WE NOMINATE

Albert Elsasser, a devoted Princetonian for the past three decades and still a student of "what makes a student tick," who has been largely responsible for the evolution of an unusual faculty advisory system that has won recognition among educators and—more important—has earned the respect of the undergraduates for whom it was designed. Essentially an outgrowth of Princeton University's experience with returned World War II Servicemen, the advisory service which Elsasser directs is concerned with school-to-college transition and, without infringing upon the individual's freedom or responsibility, succeeds in guiding freshmen and sophomores in their selection of the right courses and programs of study.

In both secondary school and college a "Faculty Adviser" is frequently, and understandably, looked upon as a necessary evil, and by advisee and adviser alike. The operation of such a system, involving hundreds of teacher-student "partnerships" and countless conferences, demands everlasting attention to detail, a stream of correspondence, and constant follow-through on the scholastic problems brought to light. No matter how carefully selected the faculty consultants might be, there must be a tireless administrator behind the scenes and it is this role Elsasser has filled since 1946 when he was named Chairman of the Board of Advisers and Director of Freshman Studies.

While Elsasser, a 60-year old native of Philadelphia and an alumnus of the University of Pennsylvania, is an authority in the fields of Medieval Literature and the development of the English Language, his interests have often transcended the limits imposed by scholarship. For a period of six years he served as chairman of the University Committee on Faculty Participation in Projects of Adult Education, the committee which cooperates with Community Adult Schools throughout New Jersey and provides liaison between Princeton and officials of the State Department of Education. He is also a former vice-chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Princeton Country Day School.

In 1944-1946, as head of a special eight-member committee of the School and College Conference on English, Elsasser supervised a study of "English Preparation in Secondary Schools," an analysis based upon the college records of 300,000 Army and Navy students trained in 112 different institutions. The findings of this committee, published in 1948, attracted highly favorable notices, antedated a rash of outbursts about the average student's lack of knowledge of the "written and spoken word" and helped clear the path for the more effective teaching of English in schools throughout the nation.

For emphasizing in his work that education on all levels is a three-way proposition demanding the best of student, teacher and parent; for his awareness of the educational problems that separate "successes" and "failures;" for his genuinely enthusiastic efforts in behalf of others; he is Town Topics' nominee for

To Be Continued. Christmas-time, however full of the more enjoyable material and spiritual things in life, is but a brief period of the year. In a busy world, it flashes all too quickly from one horizon to another; by the "end of the holiday season," the average family simply stores away a pleasant memory of Yuletide cheer and returns to its daily routine.

Each year since 1947, however, Christmas has meant far more than merely a change in the normal pace of life to a particular family in the Princeton area. What has taken place—in the form of heartfelt generosity and assistance from their neighbors—has been of lasting value through the months and years. A helping hand, extended when the hour is darkest, can create a life-time glow of renewed energy and appreciation.

For the past six years, the Christmas season has been marked by a community-wide effort among Princetonians to erase some of the hardships that have beset a family in their midst. In every instance, what has been accomplished has been of lasting value; in most instances, both the immediate needs have been met and part of the fund conserved for careful use in the future.

A family of 14, with only the older children beginning to earn sufficient money for self-support, was assured of food, clothing and medical supplies when Town Topics made its first appeal in 1947. A widow and her three children were shown the following Christmas that, with outside help when the going was hardest, ends could be made to meet. Self-reliance has been a family trait in the years that followed.

Deserted by her father, a 12-year old girl, whose mother died a fortnight before Christmas, gained an inner happiness at a crucial time in her life because the Princeton community heeded a call for help. The following year, a fund was raised for a devoted grandmother and granddaughter, separated by two generations but kept together when lack of response would have left each a public ward.

Two years ago, a family of seven from which death had just taken

Fifth Column

This week's issue of TOWN TOPICS is the last that will appear in four columns. Next week, the format will switch to five columns, with a width of 11½ ems. The depth of 15 inches will remain the same.

The change is made to conform to the national trend in the daily and weekly newspaper field. Both advertiser and reader will benefit from the increased amount of reading material on each page, while the new format will also permit certain economies in printing and mailing costs.

the mother, was carried through one financial hardship after another by the community's generosity. A new series of misfortunes beset this group after the appeal had been made. The Social Service Bureau, with which TOWN TOPICS works in making the Christmas appeals, reported simply: "It is inconceivable how they would have lived without the money raised on their behalf."

This Christmas, a family of four will pass the holiday season with peace of mind for the first time in seven years. A physically deformed sister of two other small children has had a year's fine care in a nursing home, freeing the parents' worries over her future and removing the abnormal from close proximity of her healthy brother and sister. State aid was not—and is not yet—available, but the Princeton community provided the answer.

All facts are carefully verified through the Social Service Bureau, which supervises all expenditures from the funds. The First National Bank serves as the custodian; TOWN TOPICS as the administrator.

In a year that has seen cessation of warfare and continuation of unparalleled prosperity, real hardship and ceaseless worry are unknown to virtually every resident of this community. But through the Social Service Bureau, TOWN TOPICS has learned of a family whose story is one of sorrow and need, blended with courage and faith in the future. The 1953 Christmas appeal will be published here next week.

Tape Photography. Many a technical development has been announced at the RCA Laboratories across Lake Carnegie in past years, but few as fascinating and as likely to reach quickly into American homes as the wonder unveiled Tuesday—the first major step in "electronic photography."

The process demonstrated to newsmen and other visitors was the recording of television pictures on magnetic tape. The technique was shown in both color and black-and-white, and the demonstrations included the recording and immediate playback of a color TV program micro-waved from New York.

In contrast to the developing, processing and printing of film, the magnetic tape has only to be re-wound and then is ready for projections. (The basic method is similar to the popular sound tape recording process.) The tapes can be electronically "wiped off" and

It's New to Us

All That Glitters... may not be pure gold, but it's at least gold wash or gold fill, because this is the most gilded, gold-tooled, brocaded, gilt-edged Christmas since the Edwardian elegance of grandmother's day. So be prepared for the baroque when you start to shop for personal gifts—it's a style that lends shimmer and gaiety to a holiday season, and what better time is there for opulence?

R.S.V.P. If you haven't begun to shop yet, you've certainly begun to think about Christmas: party clothes, either for yourself or for young daughters. Cocktail dresses and full-length formal gowns hang in clouds of nylon net on the racks at Mayme Mead, Elise Goupil, Mary Gill, Lillian Bellows' SubDeb Shop and The French Shop.

At Mayme Mead, 188 Nassau, we found satins and failles, many of them in dusty shades and more mature styles. A cream-colored lace, for example, would be dramatic on an older woman. For younger figures, there's a severe black enlivened by a sequined belt that looks like jet. To complete a formal ensemble, there are white kid gloves in this shop, fashioned by Grandee.

Cocktail gowns at The French Shop, 20 Nassau, are fit for a princess: here's a shell pink tulle with flowers embroidered all over its surface in gold thread. Incredibly bewitching. For someone with less sugar and more fire, here's a flame red net with a giant bow set provocatively on the hip, red flowers embedded in its folds. Carmen wears this one.

Nylon net appears again in party dresses at Elise Goupil, 217 Nassau. White net has a deep decolage outlined with a red velvet collar tipped with teardrop pearls and rhinestones. Colored sequins bring Christmas lights to a white net. Silver threads on white net and a huge pink skirt rose—this one has a white net stole, too. Bright turquoise has a halter made of ruffles. Prices here from $25 to $50.

Across the street at Mary Gill, 230 Nassau, we found high-style. Look at the cerise taffeta with the tulip neckline—a cut we can only describe as alarming. Or the black and white taffeta skirt, longer in back than in front, topped with a black velvet strapless top. A sheath dress of Oriental brocade, rather Persian in design and manner, has a plain collarless jacket; a sumptuous ensemble without a trace of ornament.

Full-length dresses at Mary Gill follow a more classic pattern. We liked a pale green satin, long and narrow, with a strapless bodice outlined with dark fur. It's $35. A full-length dress in black has jet bodice, strapless of course.

You could wear a black velvet portrait house with a black and white taffeta skirt. If you're a junior, you can find party dresses at Mary Gill from $14.95 to $17.95, like the black with its pink-lined tulip neckline.

Big gold circles on bright coral, turquoise or beige make a gay evening skirt at The Joan Shop, 63 Palmer Square West. Only $6.95 for this full, full circle. Another party skirt is bright quilted red with three-inch white candy canes tied here and there on its surface. (White with red canes, too.)

Pedal pushers or torador pants—they look much alike—at The Joan Shop they are quilted red with gold bells at the calf.

Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of RCA, told the visitors: "It is essential for the future of the television art that video tape recording be introduced to give the television industry a practical low-cost solution to program recording, immediate playback and rapid distribution. Video tape will be important for black-and-white broadcasting; it will be essential in the creation of a full color television service."

Present estimates are that the cost of recording a color TV program on magnetic tape will be only five per cent of the cost of color filming. But while the new step is expected to be a commercial reality in TV within two years, the developers foresee great possibilities in other fields.

Gen. Sarnoff asserted that low-cost television cameras taping programs off of home receivers are ultimately possible. The home movie-maker will be able to view his product in a matter of minutes without any processing. "Electronic photography" is expected to have a great effect on newsreels and other theatre motion pictures, in educational and industrial uses, and ultimately to simplify the entire art of making pictures in motion.

The relatively compact experimental equipment shown Tuesday was developed by a team of research engineers headed by Dr. Harry F. Olson and William D. Houghton, and including Maurice Aitz, J. T. Fischer, A. R. Morgan, J. G. Woodward and Joseph Zenil.

Meyner's Men? Two residents of Princeton and a well-known alumnus have been mentioned for major state administrative positions when Governor-elect Robert B. Meyner takes office next month.

Freeholder Edward A. Thorne, who was elected in November to his third term on the county governing body, has been listed as a possibility for Commissioner of Economic Development. The post has been held by Dr. Charles R. Erdman, Jr. during the greater part of the post-war era.

Dr. Joseph R. McLean of Random Road, a member of the Department of Politics at the University, has been named as a possible Secretary of State. Dr. McLean was the next governor's manager in his victorious primary campaign against Elmer Wene.

Archibald Alexander has been named for a place in the Meyner cabinet as head of the Department of Defense. A former Undersecretary of the Army, Mr. Alexander is a member of the Class of 1928 at Princeton.

Cops and Robbers. Patrolmen Randolph Applegate and Thomas Lewis arrested three teen-agers Saturday night following a four-mile chase punctuated by bullets and a three-car crash at the Kingston bridge.

The trio, John Dorko, of Trenton, Arlene Nocillo of North Plainfield and Franz Kahler of Plainfield, were held in Trenton pending action on car theft charges. The auto, belonging to Mrs. Mildred M. Kafes of River Road, was stolen in Trenton. Patrolmen Applegate and Lewis watched the car run a red light at Washington Road and Nassau Street and caught up with it as it headed for Kingston.

The trio slowed down as the patrol car pulled alongside, and then speeded up in spite of warning shots fired by one of the policemen. Moving too fast to make the turn over the bridge in Kingston, the car went out of control and was demolished as it hit two others. The girl was thrown out of the car by the impact and the three were treated at Princeton Hospital for minor injuries before being released in the custody of Trenton police.

Court Cases. Two residents of Princeton were placed on good behavior for a year by Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro in Tuesday's weekly court session. Both pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct.

Leroy Truitt, 11 Quarry Street, was fined $30 and given a six-month suspended sentence in the workhouse, in addition to the year's probation. He pleaded guilty to simple assault. Alexander Bosko, 11 Bank Street, was charged with using offensive language. He paid a $20 fine after hearing the probationary sentence.

Mrs. Oneta Campbell, 180 John Street, was fined $30 for leaving the scene of an accident. Failing to give the right of way at an intersection cost John Casally, 40 Witherspoon Street, $5. Patrolmen Randolph Applegate and John

Friday Bank Hours

As a community service, The First National Bank will open each Friday from 5 to 7 p.m., starting this weekend. The decision was reached by the board of directors after a study of the need for such service in Princeton. President John P. Poe has announced that full banking facilities will be offered during this two-hour period, but all transactions will be handled as of the next business day.

Markuson were the complainants.

Religious Conferences. "Christianity Re-Examined" and "Judaism Re-Examined" will be the subject of twin conferences scheduled for next week at the University. Sponsored by the campus religious organizations, the five-day conferences will have distinguished speakers and discussion leaders from a number of eastern states.

Four of the major addresses are listed in the Calendar of the Week and other forums and seminars will be open to the public. Dr. George F. Kennan will open both conferences with an address Sunday evening which will be limited to students and University personnel.

Sports Car Show. The Sports Car Show, sponsored by the Princeton Shopping Center and originally planned for early November, will be held this Saturday and Sunday at the Center.

A short trial course will be set up by the Delaware Valley Sports Car Club and trials will be held on both days beginning at 1 o'clock. Sport cars of every type may participate upon registration.

Continental Motors will offer such well-known makes as the Hillman-Minx, the M.G., Morris Minor, Jaguar, Mercedes-Benz and others. Models are now on display at 259 Nassau and the firm will take part in the Sports Car Show at the Shopping Center this weekend. (For further details, see advertisements on pages 17, 20 and 22.)

Plans for the Carol Sing. The Princeton Lions Club, in conjunction with Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., will sponsor the 11th annual Community Carol Sing in Palmer Square on Christmas Eve, it was announced this week by Chester A. Page, Lion president.

Charles Voes will head the committee in charge of planning. He will be assisted by John Archer, Warren Froelich, Meyer Goldstein, H. Alexander Hearn, Charles Hurford, Eric Mihan, L. Russell Riker, Charles Rocknak, James Samuels and Irwin Weiss.

Mr. Page announced the formation of a second committee, headed by Charles Strehlau, assisted by David Burrough, to make arrangements for the club's Christmas party on December 22. At the last meeting it was also announced that the Lions Club will hold a scrap metal drive in 1954.

Michael C. Kopliner, head proctor of Princeton University, will be the speaker at the next regular meeting of the club on Tuesday. Gordon Griffin is chairman of the program committee. Mr. Kopliner will talk on "Thirty Years of Proctoring at Princeton."

New Adult Courses. Two new courses, "Birds of Princeton and Vicinity" and "Writers of the Modern World," have been added to the curriculum of the Princeton Adult School. The school's 1954 term opens on January 14.

Charles H. Rogers, curator of Princeton's museum of zoology, will give the course on birds, which will include two Saturday field trips. The lecture course on modern American writers will be directed by Dr. Richard M. Ludwig, with Laurence B. Holland, Dr. Howard C. Horsford and Dr. John M. Word assisting.

The authors and books, which the class will be urged to read ahead of time, to be studied are: Henry James, "The American;" Edith Wharton, "The Age of Innocence;" Willa Cather, "A Lost Lady;" Ernest Hemingway, "A Farewell to Arms;" F. Scott Fitzgerald, "Tender Is the Night;" William Faulkner, "Absalom, Absalom;" Stephen Crane, "Maggie;" "The Monster" and "The Blue Hotel;" Frank Norris, "McTeague;" Theodore Dreiser, "The Financier;" and John Dos Passos, "The Big Money."

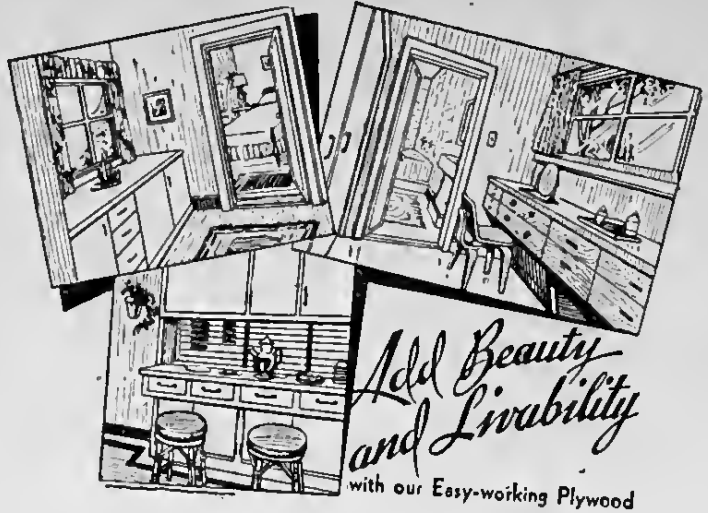

Company L Reports. Salvatore L. DiDonato, a member of Company L, Princeton's National Guard unit, for the past six years, has been commissioned a second lieutenant following appearance before an appointment board of officers of the 114th Infantry Regiment. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence DiDonato of 270 Witherspoon Street.

Lieutenant DiDonato attended a National Guard officers' candidate school at Fort Riley, Kansas, last summer, the first such course held to enable qualified enlisted members of the Guard to earn commissions. He is currently at the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia, and will return to Princeton in March.

Captain Stanley L. Donald, Company L commander, has announced the enlistment of three new members: Robert A. Lippitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lippitz of Franklin Park; Robert F. McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald of Kingston; and Albert W. Carter, Jr., whose father lives in Griggstown.

In common with all units of the New Jersey National Guard, Company L is engaged in a recruiting campaign. Interested young men are asked to visit the River Road Armory any Monday or Wednesday night.

Frosting. Evening bags and jewelry are the icing on the cake. Buy them for yourself or for gifts—no woman ever had enough of either. Bags at The French Shop are black satin with rhinestones, beads on white satin, or a brocade heavy with gold thread and beads.

One bag at Clayton's, 17 Palmer Square West, has a watch on its black velvet side. Satin bags here, too. Evening purses at The Town Shop, 67 Palmer Square West, are for the very young, as well as for you and me. A plain snap purse, festive only in its gold or silver fabric, makes a suitable evening accessory for a young girl.

The Knitting Shop, Tulane Street, has small pouch purses for a small hand. These are brocade, but not lavishly so. At Lillian Bellows' Sub-Deb Shop, 6 Chambers, there are young girls' evening bags, too.

The Town Shop has one of the most distinguished evening bags we saw: It's on the large side, made of thickly brocade satin and fastened with a "jeweled" gold ball snap. The gift of the year for some party-goer.

Large collections of women's jewelry in these shops: Stonewald's, Clayton's, The Clothes Line, The Little Hosiery Shop, The French Shop, Mayme Mead, The Town Shop, Cummin's, The Flower Basket, The Watch Shop and Pakman's.

At Stonewald's, 13 Palmer Square West, we found wide bracelets that look like leather bound in gold—splendid with a suit. Other jewelry is fashioned from copper or "silver", and there are lots of rhinestone chokers and delicate spray pins.

Jewelry at Clayton's is made of fur, of all things. Fur earrings and bracelets, each one a circle of—is it mink?—lined with a frame of gold. We found white, grey or brown fur. Pearl necklaces have alternating gold beads to enhance the pearl. Rhinestones here in abundance: chokers for about $4, and handsome crown pins.

Richelieu pearls lie on the shelves of The Clothes Line, 53 Palmer Square West: earrings, chokers and full-length necklaces. And jewel boxes to put them all in: we saw them in ivory and one is musical and plays "The Anniversary Waltz." It's $6.50.

You may buy Marvella pearl necklaces from The Cummins Shop, 96 Nassau, for $2 to $15 (plus tax). You may place a special order for a necklace of any length, any size, any graduation of the pearls, or no graduation at all, if you like. Takes a week or ten days to fill the order, which gives you plenty of gift time. Lustre pearls in this line are particularly lovely, with their dull sheen.

Gold jewelry at The Cummins Shop is chunky and elaborate, appropriate for an Oriental princess. If you like light, slender ornament, look at the scarab link bracelets or the simple rhinestone work. Lots of fun in this shop with silver pins made like skis, musical notes, a swordfish, or a saxophone.

More musical notes in silver at The Flower Basket, 136 Nassau, where you can buy silver poodles and silver masks. The popular copper on enamel jewelry is here, you'll recall, and the modern copper pieces. Earrings in this display are about $2 and $3, plus tax.

Silver Zodiac pins are done in relief with a dulled finish. They are $5, plus. For someone who has lots of jewelry, a rhinestone bobby pin would be something different. Small gold crosses on a fine gold chain—for child or adult, at The Flower Basket.

If you want to elaborate on a simple gown look at the heavy gold and pearl bracelets and earrings at The Town Shop. Pearls and rhinestones here, of course, and some unusual cork and gold jewelry—pin bracelet and necklace—for about $3.60.

Gold appears again at Pakman's. Witherspoon, this time in filigree. The set has pin, bracelet, earrings and pendant with small stones. These sets—and they vary considerably in size, style and material—are about $9 and up. For rhinestone sets, the price is $5.50 and up. You may buy earrings separately. Know what a Photo-Ident is? Pakman has them for women and men: a silver identification bracelet with concealed pocket for a picture. In gold fill, $14.95, others for $8.95.

Sets with earrings and necklace appear again in The Watch Shop, 20 Nassau. Some of these are gold, pearls and gold, or rhinestones. They start at $5.95 and go up to $12.95. A handsome little gold choker is $2.95. Boxed earrings—not boxed ears!—start at $3.95. We found musical jewel boxes here, tuned to play The Blue Danube. They are metal boxes, well-made, with small floral designs.

Mayme Mead's jewelry is by Trifari, as you probably know. Their holiday set consists of earrings, bracelet and necklace which you may buy separately. The set is made of gold and pearls, the gold worked in a curving design like a scallop. The necklace is $10, earrings, $5.

Gold with rhinestones—a dazzling combination for earrings and matching clip. Rhinestones form the center, gold the rim. Silver pieces in the Trifari ensembles are complemented by blue stones or rhinestones.

Trays and trays of earrings at The Little Hosiery Shop, 200 Nassau. (It will soon be called The Betty Wright Shop in a new location at 144 Nassau.) You'll see the ancient Egyptian Rhinestones, pearls and delicate pearl-and-gold-chain sets at this shop. Unique pins and earrings are under lock and key at The Silver Shop, 59 Palmer Square West. We liked the three graces in their minute cameo, and the figures in white on Wedgwood green. An onyx pendant holds a pearl in its center. Jade hangs softly from a pair of cupids in antique silver. Some charming jewelry for little girls and young ladies is at Lilian Bellows, 20 Nassau, and the ground. Fur pieces are separated by pearls and gold thread that won't tarnish. For $5.95.

Bunny fur collars at The Little Hosiery Shop have small rhinestone flowers embedded in the corner.

If she sews with a fine needle buy her a white linen cocktail collar at The Knitting Shop. On it she sews her own bugle beads, iridescent sequins and shells in a medalion pattern. In the same vein, a cherry red (or black) velvet bag, collar, belt or hat to embroider, to bead and to bangle.

Warm and Winding. You never saw sweaters like these—so many and so varied. Cashmeres by Bernhard Altmann at Clayton's: some with entarsia, some with flower-like neck closings. For $8.95, a short-sleeved pullover. Buy a lambs wool in aqua with white beads and pearls for $19.95.

White zephyr wool at The Joan Shop has followed ribbon down its cardigan front and around the collar for $12.95. Sweaters by Bobby Brooks have turtle necks. Cashmeres in The Joan Shop are classics, all.

A Kara-lon sweater at Bailey's, 14 Witherspoon, is washable, moth-proof, shrink-proof, budget-proof: $6.98 for the cardigan. You'll like the super-X orlon, soft as cashmere, for $7.95 at Harris' Department Store, 32 Witherspoon. Regular orlons are $3.95 and $5.95 in this store. Orlon appears again in sweaters, ready-made, at The Knitting Shop. Beeding on some of these. In sub-deb size at Bellows on Chambers Street.

For women who like the warmth of brushed rayon, look at bed-jackets, gowns and shorties at Wolman's, 25 Witherspoon. Gowns are $5.98, jackets $3.98. Mark this down for that friend who's hard to fit: women's sweaters in extra-large sizes, made of wool or orlon. Around $6, and not always easy to find, in those sizes.

Family gifts in this store include gloves and mittens for every size that sits down to your Christmas feast: men's, women's, children's—leather, wool, and combinations. Scarves go along, but not in sets: some are wool, others are silk.

Want to give a pair of gloves? Lambskin gloves at Clayton's are $8.95. Other gloves are knit-lined leather with a knit gusset separating the fingers. Pigskin gloves are pale and natural with cloth backs. At The Little Hosiery Shop you'll find gloves marked "small, medium, large", so it doesn't matter if you can't remember size. From $1.98 for a heavy cable mitten on up to fur-lined leather. We liked glove and scarf sets in tweedy mixtures, lined with brushed rayon.

All-wool gloves, leather-palmed, at Bailey's, for $2.98. Fownes gloves for an extra-special gift, at Luttmann's, 132 Nassau.

Fatted Calf. Bags in calf come in all colors, shapes and stores. The Clothes Line has them, including a big Guatemalan one that's saddle-stitched for $18.20 tax included. Dobbie bags from California at The Cummins Shop are lined with calf, and made of full-grain calf, not split. These are black lined with red, among others. Prices range from $15 to $25, including tax.

about $83, including the tax. Here we found blue calf lined with red leather and an unusual plum brown that's almost maroon, almost purple. Black suede or red calf make tidy clutch purses.

Lace and Ribbons . . . and nylon tulle. Must have seen 100 yards of it. A dazzling tulle and tricot ensemble by Schiaparelli is waiting for somebody at The Bert-Ann Shop, 188 Nassau. The peignoir is pale pink tulle with full-length godets of shocking pink and an off-shoulder neckline. Price: $35. Its companion is pink with princess lines and accents—including a giant bow—of shocking pink. For $20.

The robes, gowns and peignors in this Schiaparelli collection are quite unique in design and fabric, and absolutely breathtaking to look at. Prices are about $20 to $40—all the lace is imported, after all, and the gowns are almost collector's items, like the white nylon sheer with heavy embroidery and facings of pale pink.

Lingerie at The Little Hosiery Shop may be a $3.98 can-can slip with four ruffles, or a half slip of white nylon lace and roses for $23.95. Nylon pleated bedjackets are less than last year, by the way, and other nylon pieces are lower in price, too.

Father, With Love. You could buy him a dark all-wool robe, piped with white and accented with cufflinks that bear his initials. Harry Ballot, 20 Nassau, will sell you the robe and install the initials while you wait around. All for $14.95.

Rayon robes at Harris', 32 Witherspoon, are $5.95 and flannel ones $4.95. Pajamas by Holeproof are made of nylon tricot in maroon or blue. These are at Lahey's, 150 Nassau.

The vest is still with us, in tattersall, plain or plaid at The English Shop, 33 Palmer Square West, Harry Ballot and at Morris Men's Shop, 30 Witherspoon, where it appears in red corduroy with dull red buttons. Tattersall and tartan appear again at The Princeton Clothing Company, 17 Witherspoon, where vests are $9.50. MacDaid's has them for $20 in foulard.

A sports jacket to wear on top might be charcoal or black corduroy from Morris Men's Shop, ($18.50), or a three-quarter storm coat for $33.50. Teenage gabardine raincoats in this shop for $18.50.

For Saturday. The casual sports shirt for off-the-job leisure is a Christmas gift you can give to any man. Princeton has them by the million. Hold your breath and look at the Anderson wool plaids for $17.95, at MacDaid's, 20 Nassau. You can find other wools at MacDaid's for $8.95. Princeton Clothing has wool, too, for $7.50. All-nylon tartan shirts at The Prep Shop, 14 Chambers.

Cotton flannel shirts are stacked as high as the Christmas tree—you will run across them everywhere.

Obituaries

Mrs. Dorothy A. Wicoff Bennett, 43, formerly of Plainsboro, died November 29 in Malibu, Cal. A graduate of Princeton High School and Wilson College, she is survived by her husband, William M. Bennett; her mother, Mrs. John V. B. Wicoff; a son and daughter; four sisters, including the Misses Catherine, Evelyn and Lavinia Wicoff of Plainsboro; and two brothers, John and Douglas Wicoff. Services will be held Saturday at 2 at the Presbyterian Church in Plainsboro, with interment in Cranbury.

Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Everline, 39, of 168 Nassau Street, assistant director of the University's Bureau of Student Aid and Employment, died November 30 in Philadelphia following a sudden illness. One of the few women ever to have held an administrative post at Princeton, Miss Everline had been associated with the University for 19 years. She was named assistant director of the bureau in 1945.

A lifelong resident of Princeton, Miss Everline was a graduate of Princeton High School with the class of 1932. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Nathan W. Everline, and a brother, Nathan Alexander Everline. Services were held at Trinity Church, followed by interment in Princeton Cemetery.

Bradley E. Gaines Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Gaines of 195 John Street, died November 29 in Princeton Hospital. He is survived also by a brother, Donald, and his maternal grandparents. Services were held at the Kimble Funeral Home, with interment in Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Ora S. Medina, 49, wife of John C. Medina of 408 Leigh Avenue, died November 30 in Princeton Hospital. A resident of Princeton since 1936, she is survived also by a daughter; two sisters and two granddaughters. Services were held at the First Baptist Church, followed by interment in Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Rena M. Washington, 82, of 181 Witherspoon Street died November 24 in Princeton Hospital. Widow of Joel Washington, she is survived by a sister. Services were held at the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, with interment in Princeton Cemetery.

year at the Green Street YWCA Center and the volunteers include several Y service groups. Among them are the Senior Co-Ed Y-Teen, Tennis Club, Versatility Club and the Young Couples Club. Leaders of the groups are Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Leon Holland, Mrs. Ellen Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Lowrie McLarty.

Members of Cub Scout Pack 50 are repairing toys, collecting and refinishing sleds, and making scrap books as their Christmas project.

Miscellany. Postmaster Charles F. Murray has announced that mail carriers were unable to aid in the national campaign for Muscular Dystrophy since no envelopes were received from Washington. Donations to the fund—with checks made out to Muscular Dystrophy—may be sent to Mr. Murray at the post office.

The sum of $5,067.45 has been contributed to Princeton Hospital by the employees of the McGraw-Hill Companies. The gift is in memory of Curtis W. McGraw, Princeton publisher, who had served as a hospital trustee for nearly a quarter century before his death last September.

Sons have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stimpson, The Great Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Yates, 23 Clay Street. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hahn, 70 North Stanworth Drive, are the parents of a daughter born at Princeton Hospital.

Christmas seals, aiding in the fight against tuberculosis, have been distributed to all contributors to the Community Chest. Additional seals at a cent apiece may be bought at Hinkson's, the Princeton Water Company, and the Board of Health.

News of the Theatres

MURRAY THEATRE

The Community Players opened their season with a fine production of a sparkling play, "The Lady's Not For Burning" by Christopher Fry, and it's disappointing to hear that ticket sales have been poor. Performances continue nightly through Saturday in Murray Theatre and tickets may be obtained at the University Store and the box office at night.

The cast is remarkably good right down the line; the set (by Hildegard Rose) and costumes (by Susan Maderos) are first-rate; Richard Nicholls' direction catches the spirit of the work handsomely; Mr. Fry's writing is delightful. What more can you ask for a pleasant night of theatre?

A small, highly energetic group is chiefly responsible for this production. A high proportion of the individuals are relative newcomers to the Players, a good sign. But in order to stay alive, it would seem that the Players must have broader support both from within the organization and from the community at large.

The question of support, the financial problems centering around the heavy drain of "Avalon," and the future course of the organization are squarely in front of the membership. And the feeling is here that the community at large must also make up its mind about what has been and should be a worthwhile amateur activity.

It should be noted that most of the cast of "The Lady's Not For Burning" has had a good deal of training in the theatre: in Intime, stock and elsewhere. Selly Weher and Karl Light excelled in the leads, but the remainder of the cast, Monroe Wade, Henry Siegle, Philip Minor, Francis Schmertz, Lorin Zissman, Stuart Duncan, Douglas Dougherty, Olivia Wood and Anne Kolbe, got the most from their parts, whatever the size.

Mr. Fry's play demands careful listening, but the reward is plenty of comedy and a delightfully presented statement about mankind's faults and virtues. Recurring images, alliteration, puns, colloquialisms and symbolism from a half dozen centuries are sprayed through every line. Spectators are bound to be left at the post on occasion, but the wit and wisdom which comes through is a tribute to Mr. Fry's cleverness and power with words.

MCCARTER THEATRE

Triangle to Bow. The curtain goes up next Thursday on "Malice in Wonderland," latest in a 61-year line of Triangle Club musicals, and advance reports indicate that the new offering should be a lot of fun. Tickets for the performances in McCarter from Thursday through Saturday are said to be in considerable demand already. They may be obtained at the University Store.

Rehearsal spectators say that the show has a sprightly score, a care-free book and some fine dancing. The cancan finale may be previewed this Sunday on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" (Channel 2, 8:00 p.m.)

ALEXANDER HALL

The Princeton University Orchestra, under the direction of Russell Ames Cook, will give its first concert of the season this Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in Alexander Hall. Supported by the Friends of Music at Princeton, the concert will be open to the public without charge.

The orchestra of undergraduates, graduate students, townspeople and faculty members has been under the direction of Mr. Cook since 1941. This Saturday's program will include Mozart's Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro," Bach's Fourth Brandenburg Concerto; Milhaud's Suite "Saudades do Brazil," and the "Military Symphony" by Haydn.

While the Bach concerto is one of the composer's best known works, few people have ever heard it performed as originally scored using two "flute a bec," haroque instruments known today as recorders. The original scoring will be used on Saturday, with Thomas Osborn '56 and John Solum '57 on — Continued on Page 21 in checks, plaids and variations on the theme. At Lahey's, 150 Nassau, the brand is Arrow, of course. MacDaid, Princeton Clothing, Harris, Bailey, and Morris have other brands, prices about $2.95 and up. At Morris we found a jersey with corduroy cuffs, collar and pocket hand in heather tones, maroon and brown. All-corduroy shirts are at Princeton Clothing and at Harris, where they come in all colors and black or white. These are $4.95 and $5.95.

Viyella is the fabric at The English Shop where the sports shirt of the season is Hathaway's viyella tartan. Other Hathaways in this shop include the button-down Tattersalls.

Princeton Clothing is featuring the Van Heusen Century shirt for $3.95, guaranteed not to wrinkle in the collar. It's a conventional white shirt. Arrow shirts in white at Lahey's run from $3.95 for the dart collar to $5. Round collar button-down Oxfords at Morris, Lahey and the English Shop.

Finishing Touch. Men's jewelry by such well-known names as Swank and Hickok range in price from $1 for a collar pin to unnamed prices for heavy silver men's rings at The Silver Shop. Swank sells at Princeton Clothing, Hickok at Morris, Lahey and The Prep Shop.

Morris and Pakman's sell the Ronson lighter. At Morris we found one for $5.50 with no tax—don't ask us why. The Watch Shop at 20 Nassau has tie clasps made like bowling pins, golf clubs, and so on. Pakman's sets are by Anson, some with profiled warriors, some plain.

Lighters by Gibson at The Watch Shop are fully automatic, fully guaranteed.

Mark Cross gifts are at The Town Shop—writing folios, desk organizers, and so on. We liked sword letter openers in this shop. Other leather goods are at Luttmann's, of course; Buxton wallets (these at Morris, also), desk sets, flasks, military brushes, scrap-books and a small tool set in stainless steel, encased in leather.

Slippers! Daniel Green's old favorites at Brophy's, 78 Nassau, where they have mule-type leather ones, too. And wool-lined moccasins, and a baby lambskin lined slipper in sueded leather with soft firm leather sole. Ripon slipper sock for men are at Hulits, 140 Nassau, and standard slippers here, too.

The Smallest Sock. What moppet ever has enough mittens? Buy them in any store, from the tiny knit gloves at The Little Clothes Line to the plastic waterproof ones at The Junior Shop, 14 Chambers.

Harris, 32 Witherspoon, has mitten and scarf set in plaids for $1.95. And Ship 'n' Shore blouses for little girls! Other scarf sets are at Lillian Bellows, where they go from baby size to glittery sub-deh mittens in white angora. Tiny white pigskin gloves at Bellows would fit a six-year-old. Or buy a black velvet birthday-party purse big enough for a penny.

Leather bags for big and little girls at either Bellows shop, and belts in leather, black velvet (with or without spangles) and elasticized fabric.

Little boys are well served at the Junior Shop—look at the mite-sized Oxford button-down shirts in white—you could even buy one for a little girl.

And don't miss the red velvet vest for a size three boy, with Phi Beta Kappa key embroidered in gold on the outside of its pocket. The price is $3.50 and the general effect—priceless.

Sports in Princeton

New Season at Hand. Princeton's winter sports season is about to open, with a somewhat informal hockey contest against the alumni the first of the pre-Christmas engagements. This will occur Saturday at 2:30 in Baker Rink, competition at the intercollegiate level following next week.

The basketball team travels to Easton to meet Lafayette Wednesday and will play Fordam in Dillon Gym next Saturday, December 12. St. Lawrence will be here that afternoon to provide a full share of opposition for the hockey forces.

The wrestlers take on a new rival in C.C.N.Y. the same day in Dillon Gym, while Howie Canoune will launch his career as varsity swimming coach against Lafayette on December 16. Howie Stepp has retired after 25 years of service in this capacity to devote full time to his duties as University registrar.

Skaters Need Attack. Having won the Pentagonal title last season for the first time in a dozen years, the Tiger hockey teams finds itself in the unenviable position of looking up at two, and possibly more, of its rivals. Eleven members of the Class of 1953, including virtually all of the offensive power that won the championship, have departed. Meanwhile, Harvard, Yale and possibly Dartmouth are all figured to be considerably stronger than they were last winter.

First-line defensive strength is Coach Dick Vaughan's principal asset. Captain Blair Torrey is the league's most efficient goalie, having allowed just 18 goals in eight Pentagonal games last season. Two other colleges (Brown and Dartmouth) had twice that total scored against them.

Three veteran defensemen are back to aid the Tigers, Derek Price, Dick Court and Eddie Stimpson—the first two Canadian-trained—will help greatly. Another Canadian, sophomore Hugh Watts, is the most likely bet to pair with one of them; if reserve strength develops, Stimpson might move up to a forward position but such an

Henn and Smith Honored

John Henn, 20-year old junior from Drexel Hill, Pa., has been elected captain of the 1954 Princeton football team. Henn played regularly as a sophomore on the defensive platoon, seeing action as a linebacker, and last season was the regular center.

His predecessor, Homer Smith, was awarded the Poe Cup Monday night at the team's annual banquet at the Princeton Inn. The honor is the highest Princeton can confer on a football player.

The Tiger fullback was also named last week to the Ivy League and all-East teams. A versatile performer, particularly on offense, he was the Ivies' biggest gainer on the ground, with a total of 563 yards rushing to his credit. As a punter, he averaged 40 yards this year, the first season he had been assigned to handle the kicking.

HUMAN RELATIONS IN INDUSTRY

The modern view rates human relations as a top factor in worker productivity.

One of the most important influences in the industrial human relations field is a good, modern plant.

Should you be considering a new plant — to expand production facilities or — to increase productivity—consult a specialist in the field of plant design and construction.

advantage may be too much to hope for.

Pete Gall is the only letterman back with a full share of experience; Pete Millard, who saw occasional reserve action, is the only other letterman. Gooe are the high-scoring Hank Bohlfield, who won All-American rating and ranks with the best of Princeton's all-time hockey stars; Bill Gall, Jinx Cleaves, Tom Davis, Vic Williams, Dave Erdman and five other able players.

Gall is currently skating on a line that has George Scragg at center and Roy Bozcock at left wing. Both are sophomores. Another line includes Millard, Bill Osgood, a senior who was incligible last year; and sophomore John Butsch at center, Gordon Wilson, George Hackl and Pete Rossmasler, the latter two Princetonians, are another offensive trio.

Vaughan can count on a great deal of spirit and enthusiasm, plus a probable increase in ability as the season moves along. But the schedule is particularly rugged—after St. Lawrence come Boston University, Boston College and then a Christmas week tournament at Troy with R.P.L. Brown and St. Francis Xavier, a Canadian team, in a round robin with the Tigers.

If they win any one of these, it will be real cause for cheer. Dick Vaughan is no pessimist, but a realistic outlook does not bring thoughts of frequent success. That's somewhere in the future.

Quintet Inexperienced, Princeton's basketball forces, too, are ranked somewhat below the top level of the Eastern League. Cornell is figured to be the team to beat, with Yale also strong after a 30-game tour of Puerto Rico, Central and South America. The Elis finished that one in September, excellent pre-season training.

Minus All-American Ernie Beck and several other players who helped win the title last season, Pennsylvania is not figured as strong. Columbia, too, lost heavily by graduation, but indications are that these two teams, with Cornell and Yale, are most likely to finish in first division. Princeton, Dartmouth, Harvard and Brown—the last-named new to the league this year—will seek to break into the top four places.

Harold "Bud" Haahstad, who set three scoring records here as a sophomore, is the Tigers' main hope. He has an excellent eye, can often shake a tight defense with long set shots and is adept at driving lay-ups.

Phil "Ziggy" Zuravleff is this year's captain and will probably pair with Mike Loprete, another senior, at the guard positions. Sophomore John DeVoe (brother of Chuck DeVoe, captain of the 1952 champions) stands 6-3 and is likely to break into the starting lineup. Dick Batt, 6-5 and the squad's tallest player, is the choice for center.

Cappy Cappon has a reserve quintet in juniors John Easton and Dick Frye, plus sophomores Ray Mentzer, Ben Spinelli and Tom Orvald. The latter is 6-4 and may push Batt hard for the center spot. Paul Sarhanes, Dick Thompson, Don Halverstadt, Mort Crute and Hugh Williams are other leading candidates on the squad.

The Tigers are quite short of height and certainly not long on experience. Fortunately for their outlook, the rest of the league is pretty much in the same boat, although the pre-season forecast finds few clouds on Cornell's horizon. The Ithacans are confronted with the same opportunity that Princeton had and took in 1952—winning the Eastern League title after capturing the Ivy crown in football the same season.

Soccer Awards. Sports "Oscars" were recently awarded to the 23 members of the Valley Road School's soccer team, which went undefeated through an 11-game schedule this past season. Luigi Carnevale and Michael Pinelli, co-captains; George Cramer, Richard Schultz, Joel Johnson, Peter Readinger, Nicholas Pirone, David Blydenburgh, John Dilley, Bryce Chase, Alan Ammerman, James Tidey, John Cifelli, James Lahay, Holt Bodinson, Jonathan Jay, Howard Eldridge, William Moore, Roger Nicell, Russell Pirone, William Linley, William Hillier.

The Measure of a Bank

Gold you measure by grams, dirt by the cubic yard. But how do you measure the service a bank offers?

Certainly not just by how many it serves, but how well it serves; not by the number of customers standing in line, but how quickly and pleasantly customers come and go.

The first objective of every one of the 42 men and women who make up our organization is to give complete satisfaction to all customers.

You'll always find a spirit of helpfulness here, and that's why they say of us, "A good place to do business."

recorders, Edgar Rothenberg, violinist, will be the other soloist in the concerto.

MISS FINE'S SCHOOL

The Rivals by Sheridan will be presented by the Dramatic Club of Miss Fine's School this Friday and Saturday evenings in the school auditorium. The 18th century classic will be directed by Mrs. Herbert McAneny and will have a contemporary minuet and song, both directed by Miss Rosamond Cohan. Mrs. Clarence Johnson is in charge of the technical staff. Tickets may be obtained at the University Store and at the door.

The cast will include Jo Cornforth, Leslie McAneny, Susan Creasey, Joan Kennan, Alice Nelson, Hester Delafield, Grace Morton, Mihailo Voukitchevitch, Kurth Sprague, Peter de Baun, Ralph Hoagland, Allan Martin, James Goss, David Asher and Alan Ross.

The minuet will be performed by Agnes Fulper and Anna Rosenblad, dancing master's assistants; Jenneke Barton, Kathleen Dunn, Carol Harris, Anne Harrison, Barbara Kohlsaat, Elizabeth MacNeil, Louise Mason, Margaret Pascu, Lucille Stafford, Katherine Webster, Spencer Chagnon, James Donnelly, Edward Katz, William Leppert, Francis Pagenkopf and William Wethereall.

FILM CLASSIC SERIES

The Senator Was Indiscreet, starring William Powell and Ella Raines, will close Group Art's fall film series this Friday evening. Showings will be at 7 and 9 in McCosh Hall 10 on the University campus and tickets may be obtained at the door. "Easy Street," a Charlie Chaplin short, will precede the feature.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Botany Bay (Thurs.-Sat.) relates vaguely to the Nordoff and Hall story of the colonization of Australia by British convicts circa 1787. The Technicolor tale finds ship captain James Mason grimly punishing convict Alan Ladd for escape attempts enroute and the fact that Patricia Medina prefers the latter gentleman. Fairly generous with the excitement.

Arrowhead (Sun.-Tues.) sets the bad injuns led by ace badman Jack Palance against the good old cavalry paced by heroic Charlton Heston. Much rousing outdoor battling ensues, resulting in the destruction of virtually one and all. Technicolor, familiar rugged doings, Katy Jurado as the spying half-breed.

The Cruel Sea (Wed.-Sat.) is a handsome job of putting a long novel on the screen by means of episodic treatment, superb photography and the cumulative effects of excellent characterizations. The sea, the H.M.S. Compass Rose and the men of the Nicholas Monsarrat best-seller are tellingly created by the fine British production. Jack Hawkins heads the cast as the ship captain. Anyone with a feel for sea stories will find this one of the best.

THE GARDEN

Jack Slade (Fri.-Sat.) ranks well up as a "biography" of a professional gunman of the West. It's a rather bloody and quite penetrating look at a man who started out doing most of his killing on the right side of the law. Mark Stevens, Dorothy Malone and Barton MacLane are forceful in the leading roles.

Mr. Potts Goes to Moscow (Mon.-Wed.) is a British farce of an unusually broad sort. George Cole registers a personal triumph in a Guinness-like role of an everyday Britisher who gets mixed up in all kinds of international difficulties. He plays a sanitary engineer with bright ideas in the plumbing line who gets hold of atomic plans by accident, leading to some free-wheeling spy complications. Oscar Homolka and Nadia Gray are in support.

Wings of the Hawk (Thurs.-Sat.) features gunplay and hand-to-hand combat in profusion. The melodrama turns on battle between the federals and the revolutionaries in Mexico. Julia Adams is the leader of the insurrectionists and Van Heflin, playing a mining engineer, is caught in the crossfire. Technicolor, regular dimension.
